MPQVG02
Conform to efficient work practices in the mine

Overview

In order for a mine to operate effectively, efficiently and safely it is essential that everyone working in the mine follows practices that are conducive to effective working relationships. “Conform to efficient work practices in the mine” states the standards of performance to achieve this objective.

This standard is applicable to anyone working in a mining environment, irrespective of the type of mine, and includes those working on the surface interacting with those working below ground.
